COLONIAL THEATRE. see of Darkness, Lubin, With

This is one of the most exciting and altogether remarkable pictures that the Lubin company has released in a long time and tells of a young girl, the last of a long line of aristocracy, who lives in a big mansion of her forefathers, with her guardians, two brothers, who are lawyers become anxious to secure the wealth which is hidden in a secret room, and one night while the girl was out they quarreled and the house was set on fire. The girl, returning with her lover, a young physician, was trapped in the burning building, and escaped just before the mansion walls crumbled and fell. Incidentally, the guardians are killed and the girl secured the long deferred legacy. Other films for today are When East Met West in Boston, with Marc MacDermott, Mary Fuller and Miriam Nesbitt; Tony, the Greaser, Vitagraph, with George Cooper, and Whiffle's Night Out, an amusing comedy.

the money spent on a modern battle-ship is distributed in the shape of wages.

The English fruit harvest, it is stated, will prove one of great inequality. The growers whose crops escaped injury by frost may expect to realize high prices, owing to the shortage, while many small growers, it is feared, will sustain severe losses.

The old culm banks in the Pennsylvania anthracite coal region are rapidly disappearing. Since the first washery was constructed in 1890 the total recovery of this waste product has been 50,000,000 long tons of usable fuel. The average value increased in 1913 to $2.39 per ton. The waste from the washeries serves a useful purpose; flushed into the mines it partly fills old workings, where it cements together and supports the roof, thus preserving farm lands.
